Restriction Requirement

Applicant's arguments filed 12/1/02 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that he has "the right to have each claim examined on the merit," and that "it is improper for the Office to refuse to examine the . . . invention." This is not persuasive because applicant is claiming numerous heterocyclic rings at position R7, each representing different sub-groups of species. The ring determines the class of each sub-group while the remaining substituents determine the subclasses of the sub-group. Each class and subclass must be searched to determine novelty. Therefore, to search every class and subclass in the instant invention would constitute undue burden on the Examiner. See the MPEP. Applicant further contends that the invention share substantial structural feature. This is not persuasive because structural representation is a choice of the applicant. It is not relevant to novelty because other applicants may present the same invention with different structural formulae. Therefore, searching the classes and subclasses is the best way to determine novelty.

This application is in condition for allowance except for the following formal matters: the presence of non-elected subject matter.

Prosecution on the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

A shortened statutory period for reply to this action is set to expire TWO MONTHS from the mailing date of this letter.
